Sudbrook
Park

We will be celebrating on Sunday, October 26 starting at 3 p.m. and this year we will be STARTING AND STAYING at the park on McHenry Road. We will parade at the park, followed by our traditional costume contest. Families are welcome to go trick or treating in the neighborhood immediately following the judging. We would appreciate residents avoid parking their cars on McHenry Road, as we expect the Pikesville Volunteer Fire Department to bring their truck to the playground. For more information, contact Sandy Alexander at alexander.sandyj@gmail.com.

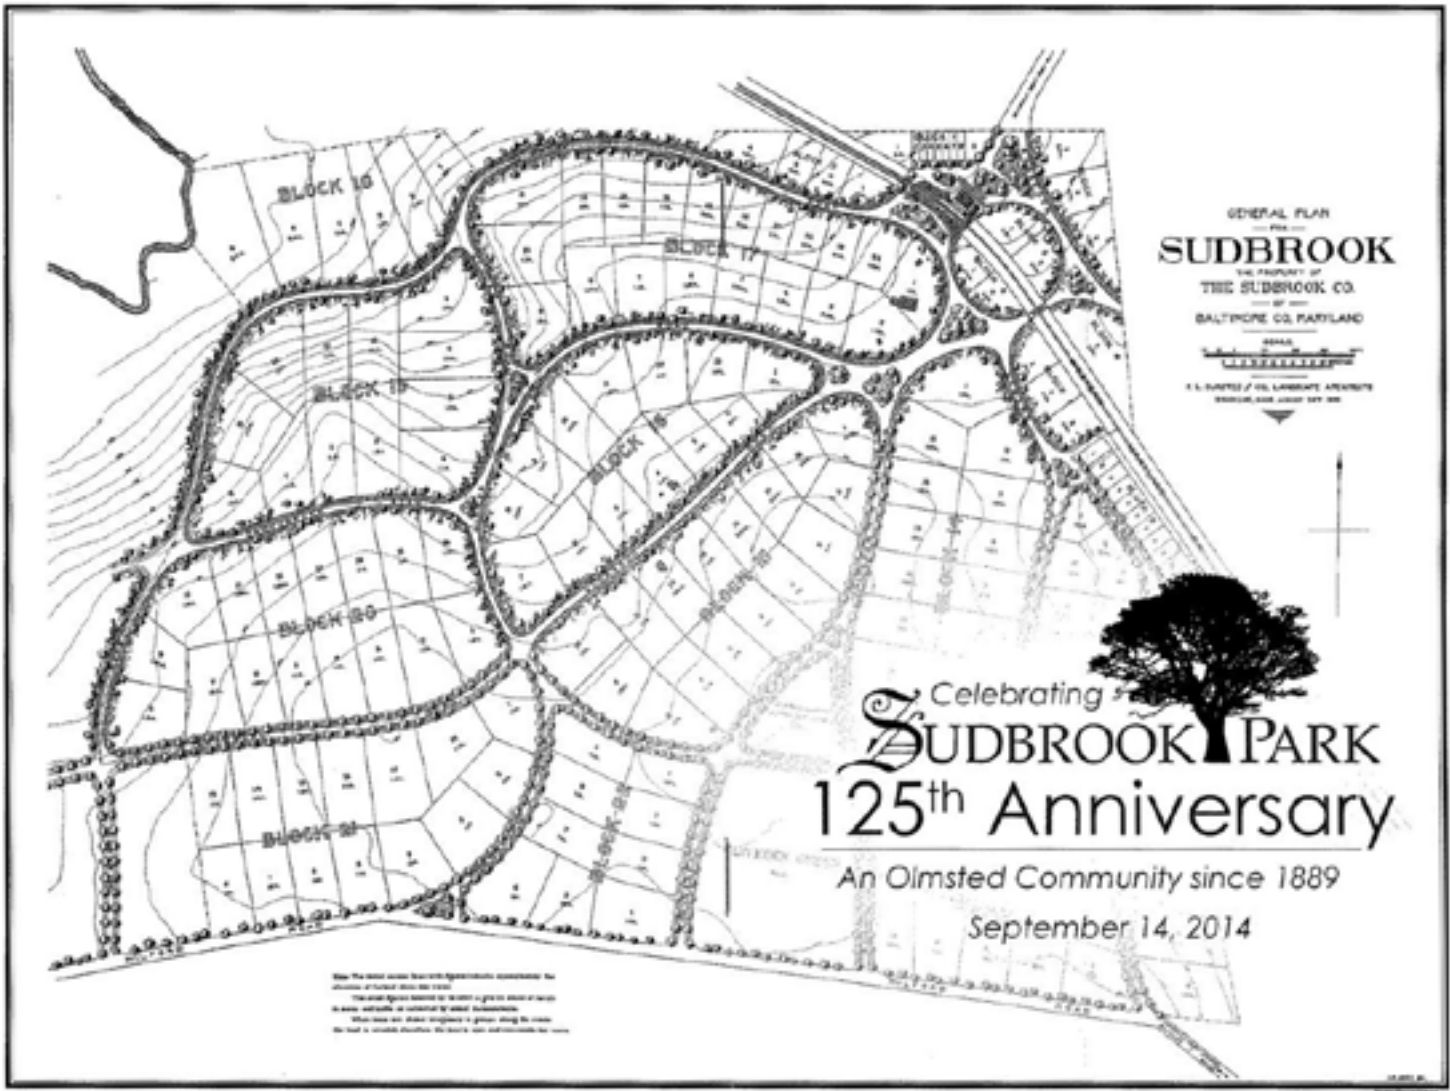

I and the board would like to thank everyone who participated in the 125th Anniversary Celebration on September 14, 2014. It was a wonderful event made even better by the beautiful weather. The great turnout (despite the Blue Angels air show over the inner Harbor for the Star Spangled Celebration) proved all the statements made about what a great neighborhood Sudbrook Park is.

Thanks to all of you!

Sudbrook Park

A Historic Baltimore Community Neighborhood Turns 125

Baltimore, Maryland – Sudbrook Park, a uniquely historic neighborhood in Baltimore County, recognized its 125th anniversary with a celebration that included tributes from state and local representatives, community leaders, neighbors and entertainment.

One of Maryland's oldest planned communities, Sudbrook Park, was designed in 1889 by noted landscape architect Frederick Law Olmsted, Sr. Known for designing well-known urban projects like Central Park in New York City, Olmsted conceived this "suburban village" with curved roads and open green spaces.

"Congratulations to the families of Sudbrook Park as the community celebrates its 125th Anniversary. Frederick Law Olmstead had a brilliant vision when he designed one of Baltimore County's oldest and most charming and beautiful neighborhoods. Sudbrook Park's thriving sense of community spirit is evident in its number of longtime residents and those who move in and decide to stay, all of whom are proud to call this historic jewel home," said Kevin Kamenetz, Baltimore County Executive.

Sudbrook Park is located specifically in Pikesville - just off Reisterstown Road and was named by prominent Baltimorean James Howard McHenry and is listed on the National Register of Historic Sites and Places and the Baltimore County Historic Districts.

"This celebration is a tribute to both its design and the people who love to live in it," said Darragh Brady president of Sudbrook Park's association. "My family moved to Sudbrook Park on the eve of the 100th celebration and it is wonderful to be here and actively involved for the 125th celebration."

Today, the neighborhood continues to be a stand-out community in Baltimore County with a thriving home owners association, well-kept and historic houses, and active residents that take part in many annual events including the 4th of July and Halloween parades and a lighting-up celebration of the neighborhood's 50ft Christmas Tree during the holidays.

Over 100 residents attended the celebration along with local dignitaries. The State of Maryland named September 14, 2014 "Sudbrook Park Day" to honor the historic community.

The 125th Anniversary celebration took place on September 14 from 2-4 p.m. in the neighborhood's Entranceway Circle.

With congratulations on the occasion of the 125th anniversary of historic Sudbrook Park. Since its design in 1889 by Frederick Law Olmsted, Sr., Sudbrook Park has been a successful "recipe for the spirit." As a visionary suburban village, the community's very design by the founder of landscape architecture in America brings neighbors together in a beautiful, green setting. Sudbrook Park, Inc. has nurtured the best of this design by cultivating a sense of pride and community in this historic neighborhood. Baltimore County applauds Sudbrook Park residents for their continuing commitment to a vibrant community that preserves the spirit of Olmsted's historic design.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of Baltimore County this fourteenth day of September in the year two thousand fourteen.
